

CORRIDOR PLAN

PROJECT TIMELINE

Overview

As part of the Funding Our Future bond, Salt Lake City will reconstruct 200 South from 400 West to 900 East starting in 2022, with aspirations to create an iconic corridor where businesses thrive, residents feel comfortable and safe walking, transit users navigate easily, and visitors build lasting memories.

To begin the process, the city (in partnership with UTA) is initiating a process to conduct planning, public engagement, alternatives analysis, and preliminary engineering activities.

The study will also evaluate a multi-modal transit center to serve as a focal point where different modes of travel – walking, biking, transit, and shared mobility – seamlessly converge.

Salt Lake City is seeking community input as we work to complete the design for the reconstruction of this street.
